Carolina Panthers Training Camp '17 draws more than 99,000
Second-highest attendance figure in camp's 23-year history

SPARTANBURG, SC – August 14, 2017 – The Carolina Panthers' training camp drew 99,196 fans to its 14 practices, the second-highest total in the 23-year history of the annual summertime football experience on the campus of Wofford College.

"We set an attendance record seven summers in a row, and while we are disappointed that streak ended this summer, we are still very happy with the results," said Spartanburg Convention & Visitors Bureau Executive Vice President Chris Jennings. "We knew that breaking last summer's record of more than 135,000 camp attendees would be very difficult, given that last summer the Panthers were coming off an exciting Super Bowl season. This season's total of nearly 100,000 is a great number. We can't wait to get the full economic impact numbers from this season's camp."

A full economic impact report will be available in several weeks.
